May 21 2009: Lighthouse Systems announces a new distribution agreement with Turkish company Insoft, part of Safer Group. Under the terms of the partnership, Insoft will have distribution rights for Shopfloor-Online in the Turkish market.

Tim Barber, Director of Lighthouse Systems, comments, “Turkey has a strong and growing manufacturing base. We are delighted to be working with Insoft who have the right skills, capabilities and complimentary solutions to take Shopfloor-Online MES to this market. “

Shopfloor-Online is a configurable MES (Manufacturing Execution System) that supports manufacturing operations, leading to gains in efficiency and improvements in quality and compliance. It has 24 modules that cover areas like downtime, OEE, quality, spc, maintenance management, customer complaints. Different modules are able to:

- download scheduled works orders from the ERP system and support tactical rescheduling
- execute orders and track progress through the factory
- provide recipe and set up information at the line
- track lot numbers of raw materials used
- create unique serialised finished goods and print bar code labels
- directly link to production equipment to capture downtime events and count production and spoilage
- provide OEE reporting
- manage the quality control plan and prompt operators to perform checks and link directly to gauges
- provide real-time SPC and alarming
- plan and execute maintenance and repair management
- manage and track customer and supplier complaints and internal concerns

Reha Belgin, Director of Insoft, remarks, “Shopfloor-Online is the broadest MES package we could find and the modular approach means that we can work with our clients to build cost effective solutions that meet their immediate needs, but that can also grow over time as their needs evolve”.
